

David May Named Landmark Conference Player Of The Week

By Joshua Mraz, Interim SID

April 27, 2009

Senior David May of the United States Merchant Marine Academy baseball team was named the Landmark Conference Player of the Week. The announcement was made by the conference office this morning. This is the first time that a Mariner baseball player has been honored by the conference.

May helped the Mariners clinch the first postseason berth in program history with several strong performances. He went 5-for-5 at the plate in the first game of a doubleheader with Scranton, and finished the week with a .500 batting average knocking out nine hits in 18 at-bats. He added a home run, and nine RBI to go with his nine hits, and scored four runs while also stealing five bases.

The Mariners return to action on Wednesday, April 29th when they host St. Joseph's Brooklyn in their final regular season game. Game time is slated for 4:30 pm.
